Time : 9:00 am

Mel Disselkoen has been keeping bees for over 40 years in Michigan and has extensive experience. He has given many previous presentations at State Beekeeping Associations across the Country including Indiana, Michigan, Illinois, Pennsylvania, etc. He has written books regarding his OTS Queen Rearing system and has extensive knowledge regarding beekeeping, OTS (On The Spot) queen rearing, mite control, swarm control, genetics, ...

He has been kind enough to agree to travel to Kentucky and share with us his knowledge of beekeeping. He will give a lecture on the morning of July 14 with regards to his experience in beekeeping and specifically the OTS method and it's many uses in the apiary. He is most proud of the fact that his OTS system is easy to perform, can be done by beginning beekeepers, is done right at the hive, is a method of mite control, and helps avoid the cost of purchasing Queens.

Weather permitting, he will also have a afternoon 'hands on' experience in an apiary for those interested.

We want to invite you to participate in this rare experience and gain further knowledge regarding the Art of Beekeeping. Please join us on July 14. You can gain further insight regarding Mel Disselkoen by visiting his website:
